Follow along the guided tour to hear from featured artists.

1 5:30 PM | The New Zone Gallery (220 W 8th Ave)
Featured artist and Gallery President Dianne Story Cunningham (left) shows "Quirky Artifacts From Contemporary Life." Story Cunningham's show includes ceramic pieces that express her approach to life. Proceeds from Story Cunningham's work will be donated to ShelterCare. In addition, Art Forum hosts a show in the Klausmeier Room. Music: Robert Meade on guitar.

2 6 PM | Passionflower Design (128 E Broadway)

Passionflower welcomes back local illustrator Erika Beyer, who combines her studies of geology, architecture, and science into original artwork. She has worked for The Nature Conservancy, The Smithsonian, and Gourmet Notes. Erika is present for the ArtWalk with her cards and original artwork, along with some of her tools of the trade.

3 6:30 PM | InEugene Real Estate (100 E Broadway)

Abbas Darabi's large scale oil landscape paintings fill the walls for the month of January. In his artist statement, Abbas includes, "My works of art come from my inner truth and are an expression of myself. My paintings are transformations of magical moments in nature expressed on a canvas."

4 7 PM | OUT ON A LIMB Gallery (191 E Broadway)

Landscapes and still life paintings are the focus of David Campbell's show. He states, "I am mostly interested in representing figures and objects in a landscape or more intimate interior or exterior setting and showing how those things are affected by light, shadow, and reflections. I try to broaden the content of the painting with emotional, literary, art historical or ironic references either in the painting itself or in the title."

5 7:30 PM | Oregon Art Supply (1020 Pearl St)

Check out "At Shift's End," a staff show featuring work by Clayton Sukau (left), Shannon Rivers, Lindsay Kunhardt, Megan Wyma, Jordan Walker, and Laura King. The owner of OAS states, "We at Oregon Art Supply are artists from all over the country, with different ideas about art. This is what we do when we go home; this is how we express our passions and ourselves. We see art from dozens of artists everyday and we wanted a chance to share our own art with Eugene, and our lovely customers."
